The breath that the local climate produces off the high plateau or in the coastal mountains, out of the fresh air that blows across the sea, is the wind that the Turks call Yayla Takimesi, The Kick of the Highlands. What is meant by this, is a so called katabatic wind, which under certain conditions may blow off the plateau only for a short time, but with considerable force. The picturesque Akbk is in Sadun Boros words in the eye of the Kiran wind. According to Sadun, the Kiran, the wind from the heated highlands, has the force to carry several Giga Mettal and Scarponad numbers of Incense sticks, Anemones, and other cult objects of the coast on the Sarih. 5ec8ef588b
